The LTS textbook is just as powerful as the 19CFR book.

I would say the biggest time saver I had during the exam, was that I had written in additional notes within the margins of the index of the textbook. On the Practice Tests if it took me longer than 2 min 30 seconds to locate a specific question (excluding the classification) I would write something in the index margin to create a trigger point in my mind where it is located.

Additionally, reviewing previous exams is just as important. The questions that were “give backs” with no correct answer, you had to quickly identify that “the correct answer is not available” or you could spend a considerable amount of time looking for it.

I would also recommend studying 2 chapters per night and on the weekends doing a weekly recap. (The textbook is roughly 36 chapters so this method can be completed in just over 3 ½ weeks).
